

iChannel Express Security

It's a Private Matter...

Even in iChannel Express you can create security, keeping sensitive dictation separate from the not so sensitive.

As the diagram shows, by sending jobs to a separate share that only one typist has Windows permissions to access, or sending them directly to her computer, it prevents other typists from accessing the jobs. In Express, a typist can easily switch between source directories from the menu.

Quick Facts

Assign dictation to specific typists

Lock a typist to a specific dictation folder or allow access to multiple folders
